

FAQ s for Health Examination

I. Notes before Health Examination

1. If local students want to do the health examination at the University Hospital, do they need to make an appointment for it?

No. Please bring along all the required documents and go to the University Hospital directly to finish health examination. For details, please refer to “One-stop Examination” and “Important Notes” in the “Guidelines for Health Examination”.

2. If local students want to do the health examination at the Macau Government Health Centers, do they need to make an appointment first?

Yes. The X-ray and physical examination are arranged at different time. Five to eight weeks may be needed to complete the health check. Therefore, please make appointment as early as possible. Please note that the Macau Government Health Centers only provide regular health check service, with X-ray and urine routine included while the blood screening may be excluded. Please refer to the “Multi-stops Examination” in the “Guidelines for Health Examination”. For more details, please make enquiries with the Macau Government Health Centers.

3. Can local students do both the regular health check and the blood screening at the Macau Government Health Centers?

Usually, the Macau Government Health Centers only provide regular health check service, with X-ray and urine routine included while the blood screening may be excluded. Please refer to the Macau Government Health Centers for details.

4. Can local students do the health examination at other local hospitals instead of the University Hospital or the Macau Government Health Centers?

Yes. Please note that the “Health Examination Report” issued by the University must be completed. For related fees and procedures, please make enquiries with relevant medical institutions.

5. I have got admitted, when should I do the health examination?

For local students:

All local students must submit the completed “Health Examination Report” via the Online Application System (OAS) in Mid-August. And students should complete the health examination on or after May 1st.

For non-local students:

After online registration, non-local students must complete the health examination at the University Hospital during the designated period in September. (Students must reserve the time slot for health examination after the online registration).

6. If I have done the health examination recently at other local/mainland hospitals, can I be exempted from the admission health check?

For local students:

If students have had health examination on or after May 1st at local hospital, they can either ask the local hospital to fill in the “Health Examination Report” issued by the University or provide the original report to the University Hospital for transfer of related data to the “Health Examination Report”, in which case an extra fee has to be paid for the data transfer. If the health report submitted is found to be missing information, overdue or not in conformity with the requirements of the University, students should do the supplementary check-up either at the local hospitals/the Macau Government Health Centers or at the University Hospital where a corresponding supplementary fee will be charged. For fees details, please refer to “Multi-stops Examination” in “Guidelines for Health Examination” or check with the University Hospital.

For non-local students:

No. According to the University regulations, all non-local new students must complete health examination at the University Hospital.

7. If I only do the blood screening at the University Hospital, what fees do I need to pay?

If students simply do the blood screening at the University Hospital, they need to pay the test fee for blood screening. For fees details, please refer to “Multi-stops Examination” in “Guidelines for Health Examination” or check with the University Hospital.

Students who choose to do the blood screening at the University Hospital can collect the health report at the Nurse’s Station of the Hospital by presenting the ID card and receipt after one week of the blood screening.

8. What does the health examination cost at the University Hospital?

For local students:

Students can enjoy a full range of examination service at a preferential price by presenting the Acceptance Letter issued by the University. This fee already includes the administration fee for completing the health reports, physical examination and examination for chromatic sense, chest x-ray, blood screening and urine routine.

If the examination result is found to be abnormal, students may need to pay an extra fee for supplementary check-up. Please check with the University Hospital for details.

For non-local student

The health examination fee is already included in the Debit Note for the Tuition Fee of the First semester and should have been paid together with the tuition fee. Therefore, there is no need to pay the examination fee additionally. This fee already includes the administration fee for completing the health report, physical examination and examination for chromatic sense, chest x-ray, blood screening and urine routine.

If the examination result is found to be abnormal, students may need to pay an extra fee for supplementary check-up. Please check with the University Hospital for details.
