Guidelines for Health Examination – Spring 2023 Admission (Applicable for non-local Postgraduate New Students)

1. Requirement

All non-local postgraduate new students must go to the University Hospital to complete the health examination and submit the vaccination record. The “Health Examination Report” will indicate whether they are physically fit to pursue study at the University. The health examination fee (Non-Medical programs: HKD570; Medical programs: HKD680) is indicated in the debit note for the first installment of tuition fee, which has to be paid together with the tuition fee.

Health examination is one of the in-person registration steps. New students must pass the health examination and all steps of in-person registration unless they will not formally become the University’s students. The University may terminate the admission qualification of those who fail to complete the health examination before the deadline. In this circumstance, all fees paid will not be refunded, transferred, nor retained.

2. Period

Health examination for new students will be arranged in January 2023. An appointment for health examination can be scheduled online after submitting the online registration.

3. Procedures

New students should bring along the necessary documents listed in section 6.2 below to complete the health examination at the University Hospital at the scheduled time.

The health examination includes a physical exam, chromatic sense, chest x-ray, blood screening, urine routine and vaccination checking, etc. If the health examination result is abnormal, students may need to pay an extra fee for a supplementary check-up.

For the status of the health examination (such as follow-up matters, the completion status of the vaccines), students can check the relevant progress and completion status in the WeMust Student.
