LEED AP Building Design and Construction

課程簡介 Course Introduction

LEED Building Design + Construction is the largest and broadest of the U.S. Green Building Council's LEED rating systems. The training focuses on building design and construction and takes a deeper dive into the LEED credits, with an emphasis on implementation and LEED documentation.

This LEED course provides a complete review of the processes, procedures, and calculations associated with attaining LEED certification for a building, as well as a review of LEED credits and strategies for passing the exam.

課程目標 Course Objectives

- ✧ Understanding the credit requirements of the LEED BD+C Rating System
- ✧ Understanding the LEED Minimum Program Requirements

課程大綱 Course Outlines

- ✧ Encouraging and assisting with an integrative design process
- ✧ Guiding project teams in the LEED application process
- ✧ Registering a new building project with LEED Online software
- ✧ Setting project goals in accordance with ASHRAE, EPA, and ENERGY STAR standards

P.S. Course materials include:

● Course Guide	● 2 Practice Exams
● 120 Credit Category Questions	● LEED Credit Reference Sheets

對象 Target Audience LEED Project Experience is required, and LEED Green Associate accreditation is recommended.
