

Department: School of Business

Course Name Research Methodology

Hours per week 3

Number of Credits 3

Course Description This course provides an introduction to qualitative and quantitative research methodology for students to conduct significant academic exploration and research. The content includes exploring research topics, literature review, identifying research gaps, establishing research models and hypotheses, research design, data collection, data analysis and interpretation, discussing theoretical and practical contributions and